THE HOUSE ON MANGO STREET

We didn't always live on Mango Street. Before that, we lived on Loomis on the third floor and before that, we lived on Keeler. Before Keeler, it was Paulina and before that, I can't remember, But what I remembered most is moving a lot. Each time, it seemed there'd be one more of us. By the time we got to Mango Street, we were six – Mama, Papa, Carlos, Kiki, my sister's Nenny and me.

The house on Mango Street is ours and we don't have to pay rent to anybody, or share the yard with the people downstairs, or be careful not to make too much noise and there isn't a landlord banging on the ceiling with a broom. But even so, it's not the house we thought we'd get.

We had to leave the flat on Loomis quick. The water pipes broke and the landlord wouldn't fix them because the house was too old. We had to leave fast. We were using the washroom next door and carrying water over in empty milk gallons. That's why Mama and Papa looked for a house and that's why we moved into the house on Mango Street, far away, on the other side of town.

They always told us that one day we would move into a house, a real house that would be ours, so we wouldn't have to move each year. And our house would have running water and pipes that worked. And inside it would have real stairs, not hallway stairs but stairs inside like the houses on TV. And we'd have a basement and at least three washrooms, so when we took a bath, we wouldn't have to tell everybody. Our house would be white with trees around it, a great big yard and grass growing without fence. This was the house Papa talked about when he held a lottery ticket and this was the house Mama dreamed up in the stories she told us before we went to bed.

But the house on Mango Street is not the way they told it at all. It's small and red with tight steps in front and windows so small you'd think they were holding their breath. Bricks are crumbling in places and the front door is so swollen you have to push hard to get in. There is no front yard, only four little elms the city planted by the curb. Out back is a small garage for the car we don't own yet and a small yard that looks smaller between the two buildings on either side. There are stairs in the house but they're ordinary hallway stairs and the house has only one washroom. Everybody has to share a bedroom – Mama and Papa, Carlos and Kiki, me and Nenny.

midnight, Scottish families go 'first footing', visiting the houses of friends and relations to continue the celebrations!

Burns Night, 25 January

Robert Burns is Scotland's national poet and Scottish people have a big dinner every year to celebrate his birthday. The main part of the meal is 'haggis', Scotland's national dish made from liver, cereals and fat served in a sheep's stomach. Then everyone reads poems and sings songs written by the great 'Rabbie' Burns himself.

The Highland Games, May-September

Nearly every weekend in the summer, there are highland games somewhere in Scotland but the biggest games are at Cowal. People from all over the world come to watch or take part. Over three thousand bagpipers and drummers play all day and there is a wonderful atmosphere. There are highland dancing competitions as well as events like throwing the hammer or 'tossing the caber' – throwing a large tree-trunk as far as possible! All the athletes wear traditional skirts called kilts.

The Edinburgh Festival, August

Edinburgh is famous all over the world for its arts festival. There is an official festival for theater, opera and classical music, and the 'Fringe' festival where you can see a large variety of plays, films, comedians, dance companies and concerts. Finally, there is the Military Tattoo, a military parade held in Edinburgh Castle.
